

support media diversity

The narrow spectrum of viewpoints apparent in the news media during this time of war is but one example of the current lack of media diversity.

Independent or alternative viewpoints are very difficult to find, and require the citizen to spend much time and effort tracking down stations such as Pacifica Radio, which are not available in many markets.

I support retaining current media ownership rules and urge the FCC to hold additional hearings.

Thank you